5. Important information on Collective Investment Schemes in Hedge Funds

- 5.1 A Collective Investment Scheme is a scheme, in whatever form, in terms of which members of the public are invited, or permitted, to invest money or other assets in a portfolio, and where two or more investors contribute money or other assets to, and hold a participatory interest in, and the investors share the risk and the benefit of investment, in proportion to their participatory interest in a portfolio of a scheme.
- 5.2 Our Portfolios are administered in a scheme, in the form of a Unit Trust, in which you hold a Participatory Interest. For more information on our Portfolios and the Units, refer to the latest Portfolio Summary, each Portfolio's Minimum Disclosure Document, as well as the Annual Report.
- 5.3 Collective Investment Schemes in Hedge Funds should be considered medium to long-term investments. The value of Participatory Interests or the investment may go down as well as up. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. We do not provide any guarantee, either with respect to the capital or the investment return of a Portfolio. Further risks associated with hedge funds include: investment strategies may be inherently risky; leverage usually means higher volatility; short-selling can lead to significant losses; unlisted instruments might be valued incorrectly; fixed income instruments may be low-grade; exchange rates could turn against the fund; other complex investments might be misunderstood; the client may be caught in a liquidity squeeze; the prime broker or custodian may default; regulations could change; past performance might be theoretical; or the Manager may be conflicted. For a detailed description of these risks, refer to Annexure B – Hedge Fund Risk Disclosures attached to the application form. Excessive withdrawals from a Portfolio may place the Portfolio under liquidity pressures, and a process of ring-fencing of withdrawal instructions and managed pay-outs, over time, may be followed.
- 5.4 We are entitled, in our absolute discretion, without notice or on such notice as we may determine, to close a Portfolio to new investments and/or to close a Portfolio to investments from new investors and/or to accept new investments only from certain persons or groups of persons and/or to limit or suspend the creation and issue of new participatory interests, in each case on such terms as we may determine, if such restrictions will, in our view, benefit the Portfolio or the effective management thereof or for any other reason whatsoever. We may, in our absolute discretion, determine the date from which any such restrictions shall take effect, the date from which any such restrictions shall cease to apply and/or the date on which any such amended restrictions shall apply.
- 5.5 Collective Investment Schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. Forward pricing is used. The Portfolios are valued at the end of the day using the latest available prices at close of business. The price of Units are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in a Portfolio, including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (brokerage fees, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee and custodian fees, value added tax, securities transfer tax, other levies and taxes, service charges and performance fees (if any)) from the Portfolio, divided by the number of Units in issue. A SCHEDULE OF FEES CHARGES with maximum commissions (including the Total Expense Ratio (TER), Total Costs (TC) and Total Investment Charges (TIC)) is available on request, or is available on our website. For any given Portfolio, there may be different classes of Participatory Interests available, for which there are different fees and charges.
- 5.6 If we experience liquidity constraints on account of a repurchase request, or where there are exceptional circumstances, we may, with the consent of the Trustee suspend the repurchase of Units or partially suspend the repurchase of Units. We may also, with the consent of the Trustee and with approval from the FSCA, create a new Portfolio (a side pocket account) in order to separate illiquid assets from liquid assets. If we create a side pocket account, we will clearly describe the assets that are to be placed in the new Portfolio; the new Portfolio will be closed ended, restricted to investors who are in the corresponding Portfolio at the time when the side pocket account was created; we will ensure the fair valuation of the assets in the new Portfolio, we will ensure that the assets in the new Portfolio are realized as soon as they become liquid; and we will follow any directions issued by the FSCA.
- 5.7 A fund of hedge funds Portfolio is a Portfolio that, apart from having assets in liquid form, only invests in other hedge fund portfolios, which levy their own charges. This could result in the investment in a fund of hedge funds portfolio being more expensive than an investment in a hedge fund portfolio that is not a fund of hedge funds portfolio.
- 5.8 The Alexander Forbes Investments hedge funds are fund of funds portfolios valued on a Net Asset Value basis (NAV). Each of the appointed underlying portfolios are valued and priced independently and the prices are published to the market. Alexander Forbes Investments value the fund of funds portfolio as the sum total of the underlying participatory interests owned in these portfolios, less permissible deductions (e.g. audit fees, service fees and bank charges) for each class. The NAV is calculated on a forward pricing basis by dividing the NAV by the number participatory interests (units) in issue for each class.
- 5.9 Certain Portfolios may include foreign securities, which may pose additional risks on the Portfolio, depending on the jurisdiction. Additional risks that should be considered include, but may not be limited to potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, settlement risks, macro-economic risks, political risks, foreign exchange risks, tax risks, and potential limitations on the availability of market information. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of underlying international investments to up or down. An investment in a currency other than your own may expose you to a foreign exchange risk.
- 5.10 An investment in a Portfolio may earn interest and dividends from the underlying assets. If such interest and dividends are more than the expenses in the Portfolio, an income distribution is declared. You may be liable for tax on such income distributions. It is your responsibility to ensure that you are familiar with or take advice in respect of the tax implications on your investment in the Portfolios.
- 5.11 The various Portfolios declare income distributions on the last Business Day of the months, as indicated on the latest Portfolio Summary, or in each Portfolio's latest Minimum Disclosure Document.

If we receive your instruction less than five (5) Business Days before the Pricing Date, we will only process your instruction on the next Pricing Date. Should this happen, you will not receive the full amount of your original investment.

6.2 Investment guarantees

We do not provide any guarantee on the capital or the return of your investment. You carry the full investment risk and must make sure that you understand the relationship between your investment objectives, the investment and the risk and returns of the investment. Investment in a hedge fund portfolio involves a high degree of risk, and it is possible for you to lose some, or all, of the money that is invested.

6.3 Advice

We will not provide any advice on your investment choices. It is your responsibility to obtain financial advice on your investment choices.

You may invest in the Portfolios by buying Units. You can buy Units by making the following contributions:

- Initial lump sum
- Additional lump sum

Although an immediate switch between Portfolios is not possible (due to monthly pricing of portfolios), you can disinvest from a Portfolio on a specific Pricing Date, and invest into another Portfolio on the next Pricing Date (i.e. separate disinvestment and investment).

7.3 Transfer to another product provider

If you wish to transfer your investment to another product provider, you have to sell your Units in the Portfolio and reinvest the proceeds with the other product supplier. It is your responsibility to understand the implications, costs, investment consequences and any possible tax consequences, if you decide to invest with another product supplier.

7.4 Disinvest (request a repurchase)

You may, at any time, disinvest from the Portfolio, but your instruction to disinvest will only be processed on a Pricing Date. If we receive your instruction at least five (5) Business Days before the Pricing Date, we will process your instruction on that Pricing Date. If we receive your instruction less than five (5) Business Days before the Pricing Date, we will only process your instruction on the next Pricing Date. We will repurchase the disinvested Units at the applicable Unit Price and pay the repurchase amount within one (1) calendar month. We will not pay the repurchase amount to a third party bank account – payment can only be made to your bank account. We will not be liable to pay interest on any repurchase amount for the period between the Pricing Date and the actual date of payment thereof. If you disinvest from the Portfolio soon after you invested in the Portfolio, the charges you have paid, may be more than the growth on the investment. Should this happen, you will not receive the full value of your original investment amount.

If we experience liquidity constraints on account of a repurchase request, or where there are exceptional circumstances, we may, with the consent of the Trustee suspend the repurchase of Units or partially suspend the repurchase of Units. We may also, with the consent of the Trustee and with approval from the FSCA, create a new portfolio (a side pocket account) in order to separate illiquid assets from liquid assets. If we implement any of these measures, we will at all times comply with the requirements of the Act and the need to protect the interests of investors. We will ensure that affected investors are properly informed as soon as practically possible of all relevant information pertaining to such measures. Also refer to 5.6 above with regards to the requirements that apply to side pocketing.

7.5 Transfer ownership (outright session)

You may request a transfer of full ownership of some, or all, of your Units to another person or legal entity (known as a “cessionary”), by submitting a correctly completed Notification of Outright Cession Form. The cessionary will become the new owner of the Units, and you will no longer be able to transact on this investment account. An outright cession may result in a payment of capital gains tax.

7.6 Security cession

You may cede some or all of your Units to secure a debt owing to an individual or entity (known as a “cessionary”) by submitting a correctly completed Notification of Security Cession Form. This is not a transfer of full ownership and the cession will merely be noted against the number of Units in favour of the cessionary.

If you have not indicated your preference, we will reinvest your income distribution in your current Portfolio. If you have indicated that we must pay income distribution into your bank account, we may refuse your application if, due to the size of your investment, payment of income distributions would be disruptive to the management of the Portfolio.

8.6 You must provide information on your tax residency, for purposes of FATCA and CRS.

You must provide information on all the countries in which you are resident for tax purposes, and indicate your FATCA and CRS classification status. CIS disclosures: CIS in hedge funds

Risks (portfolio specific)

Derivatives: There is no assurance that a portfolio's use of a derivative strategy will succeed. A portfolio's management may employ a sophisticated risk management process, to oversee and manage derivative exposures within a portfolio, but the use of derivative instruments may involve risks different from, and, in certain cases, greater than, the risks presented by the securities from which they are derived.

Exposure to foreign securities: Foreign securities within portfolios may have additional material risks, depending on the specific risks affecting that country, such as: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds; macroeconomic risks; political risks; foreign exchange risks; tax risks; settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of underlying international investments to go up or down. Investors are reminded that an investment in a currency other than their own may expose them to a foreign exchange risk.

Hedge fund of funds: A hedge fund of funds is a portfolio that invests in portfolios of collective investment schemes (unit trusts) that levy their own charges, which could result in a higher fee structure for the fund of funds.

Drawdown: The potential magnitude of loss - the largest peak-to-trough decline in returns over the period, also known as the 'maximum drawdown'.

Liquidity: The risk that a given security or asset cannot be traded quickly enough in the market to prevent a loss (or make the required profit).

Equities: The value of equities may vary according to company profits and future prospects, as well as more general market factors. In the event of a company default, the owners of their equity rank last in terms of any financial payment from that company.

Bonds: The value of fixed income investments (e.g. bonds) tends to decrease when interest rates and/or inflation rises. Bonds issued by major governments and companies, will be more stable than those issued by emerging markets or smaller corporate issuers. If an issuer experiences financial difficulty, there may be a risk to some, or all, of the capital invested. Any historical or current yields quoted should not be considered reliable indicators of future performance.

For a detailed description of these risks, and other risks that are relevant to the portfolio, please refer to the CIS RISK DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT, available on the website.

Collective Investments (unit trusts) are generally medium-term to long-term investments, but a hedge fund may have short-term strategies and practices. The value of participatory interests (units) or the investment may go down as well as up. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Hedge funds trade at ruling prices and prices may fluctuate post publication. Hedge funds can engage in scrip borrowing and scrip lending. The manager does not provide any guarantee, either with respect to the capital or the return of a portfolio. Any forecasts and/or commentary in this document are not guaranteed to occur. Different classes of participatory interests apply to these portfolios and are subject to different fees and charges. A SCHEDULE OF FEES AND CHARGES, with maximum commissions, is available on request from us or from your financial adviser. Forward pricing is used. Hedge funds are CIS with a strategy that allows for leveraging and short-selling strategies. Hedge fund strategies can result in losses greater than the market value of the fund, but investors' losses are limited to the value of the investment or contractual commitments. Hedge funds can also invest in illiquid instruments. While CIS in hedge funds differ from CIS in securities (long-only portfolios) the two may appear similar, as both are structured in the same way, and are subject to the same regulatory requirements. Further risks associated with hedge funds include: investment strategies may be inherently risky; leverage usually means higher volatility; short-selling can lead to significant losses; unlisted instruments might be valued incorrectly; fixed income instruments may be low-grade; exchange rates could turn against the fund; other complex investments might be misunderstood; the client may be caught in a liquidity squeeze; the prime broker or custodian may default; regulations could change; past performance might be theoretical; or the manager may be conflicted. For a detailed description of these risks, please refer to the HEDGE FUND RISK DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT, available on the website.

Redemptions

A Qualified Investor Hedge Fund (QIHF) can borrow up to 10% of the value of the portfolio, for redemptions of participatory interests. The ability of a portfolio to repurchase, is dependent upon the liquidity of the securities and cash of the portfolio. A manager may, in exceptional circumstances, suspend repurchases for a period, subject to regulatory approval, to await liquidity, and the manager must keep the investors informed about these circumstances.

Performance fees

Performance fees are not levied on the portfolio, although they have been provided for. Investors will receive three (3) months' written notice, if performance fees will be levied in the future.

Lump-sum investment performances are being quoted. Income distributions, prior to deduction of applicable taxes, are included in the performance calculations. NAV to NAV figures have been used for the performance calculations, as calculated by the Manager at the valuation point defined in the deed, over all reporting periods. Investment performance calculations are available for verification upon request by any person. Reinvestment of income is calculated on the actual amount distributed per participatory interest, using the ex-dividend date NAV price of the applicable class of the portfolio, irrespective of the actual reinvestment date. The performance is calculated for the portfolio. The individual investor performance may differ, as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. The rate of return is calculated on a total return basis, and the following elements may involve a reduction of the investor's capital: interest rates, economic outlook, inflation, deflation, economic and political shocks or changes in economic policy.

Annualised returns are period returns re-scaled to a period of one year. This allows investors to compare returns of different assets that they have owned for different lengths of time. All period returns greater than one year have been annualised. Returns for periods less than one year have not been annualised. Actual annual figures are available to the investor on request.

Prices

PRICES are published daily in the Business Report (South Africa's National Financial Daily).

Valuation and cut-off times

The QIHFs are valued on the last day of each calendar month. The pricing date is the last day of each calendar month. The withdrawal instruction must be received before 13:00, at least five business days (or shorter, as determined by the Manager) prior to the pricing date, failing which, the pricing date in the following calendar month will apply.

Closure of the portfolio

The manager shall, in its absolute discretion, without notice or on such notice as it may determine, be entitled from time to time to close the portfolio to new investments and/or to close the portfolio to investments from new investors and/or to accept new investments only from certain persons or groups of persons and/or to limit or suspend the creation and issue of new participatory interests, in each case on such terms as it may determine, if such restrictions will, in the manager's view, benefit the portfolio or the effective management thereof or for any other reason whatsoever. The manager shall, in its absolute discretion, determine the date from which any such restrictions shall take effect, the date from which any such restrictions shall cease to apply and/or the date on which any such amended restrictions shall apply.

Structure of the portfolio

The portfolio was established as a collective investment scheme trust arrangement on 26 May 2016, with the conversion process being completed on 1 November 2016. All prior information was in an unregulated environment. The portfolio will not change its investment strategy or investment policy without prior approval from the Financial Sector Conduct Authority and investors. The ballot procedure, as prescribed in CISCA and the Deed, will be followed.

Counterparties and prime brokers

We do not enter into counterparty or prime broker arrangements, but the underlying portfolios may enter into such arrangements. We receive reporting on counterparty exposure levels from the underlying portfolio managers and this information can be provided on request.
