General disclosures

Collective investment schemes are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of participatory interests may go down as well as up. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. The Manager does not provide any guarantee, either with respect to the capital or the return of a portfolio. There is no assurance that the investment objectives of the Fund will actually be achieved. Collective investment schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. Collective investment schemes may borrow up to 10% of the net asset value of the Class Fund to bridge insufficient liquidity. The Manager is allowed to lend out the underlying assets of a collective investment scheme. Forward pricing is used.

Specific disclosures

A Class Fund that is a fund of funds invests in portfolios of collective investment schemes that levy their own charges, which could result in a higher fee structure for the fund of funds. Foreign securities within portfolios may have additional material risks, depending on the specific risks affecting that country, such as: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds; macroeconomic risks; political risks; foreign exchange risks; tax risks; settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of underlying international investments to go up or down. An investment in a currency other than your own may expose you to a foreign exchange risk. This Class Fund is an accumulation fund and does not distribute income.

A feeder fund is a portfolio that invests in a single portfolio of a collective investment scheme, which levies its own charges and which could result in a higher fee structure for the feeder fund.

The rate of return is calculated on a total return basis, and the following elements may involve a reduction of the investor's capital, interest rates, economic outlook, inflation, deflation, economic and political shocks or changes in economic policy.

You can obtain additional information on the proposed investment, free of charge, from the prospectus, application form and the annual report and any half-yearly report which are available on our website: <https://sa.investmentsolutions.co.za/Jersey/DownloadCentre>.
